🔪 Hesitation Is Weakness

Free Triggered Action

Keep up the attack. Never give them a moment's grace.

★ Careful Observation

Maneuver

A moment of focus leaves a foe firmly in your sights.

👁 I'm No Threat

Maneuver

Taking on the illusory countenance of another creature gives you an advantage on subterfuge.

🔪 Clever Trick

Triggered Action

You sow a moment of confusion in combat, to your enemy's peril.

🔪 So Gullible

Free Triggered Action

When your enemy strikes, you reveal you were in a different place all along.

• Heroic Resource: Insight

When you use a heroic ability that has a power roll, that ability costs 1 less insight if you have an edge or double edge on it. If the ability has multiple targets, the cost is reduced even if the ability has an edge or double edge against only one target.

INCITING INCIDENT

Fame and Fortune

You thought you were famous – then that hero came to your show. Suddenly, all eyes were on the dragon-slaying brute instead of on the stage where they belonged. The audience even gave them a standing ovation when they entered the room. All you got was polite applause. Fine. If people want a hero so much, then a hero you shall be.

ANCESTRY TRAITS AND PERKS

Dazzler

Whenever a creature watches you sing, dance, or perform a role (as an actor, not just in disguise) for 1 uninterrupted minute or more, you gain an edge on any test made to influence that creature for 1 hour after the performance ends.

Can't Take Hold

Your connection to the natural world allows you to resist certain supernatural effects. You ignore temporary difficult terrain created by magic and psionic abilities. Additionally, when you are force moved by a magic or psionic ability, you can reduce the forced movement distance by 1.

Forgettable Face

If you spend 10 minutes or less interacting with a creature who hasn't met you before, you can cause them to forget your face when you part. If asked to describe you, the creature gives only a vague, blank, and unhelpful description. Additionally, if you spend 1 hour or more assembling a disguise, you automatically obtain a tier 2 outcome on any test that could make use of the Disguise skill. If you have the Disguise skill, you automatically obtain a tier 3 outcome on the test.

★ Detect the Supernatural Maneuver

You open your awareness to detect supernatural creatures and phenomena.

{12-16} 2d6 + 15 damage (Melee) | 2d6 + 13 damage (Ranged)

{17+} 2d6 + 20 damage (Melee) | 2d6 + 18 damage (Ranged)

HEROIC ABILITY

MISDIRECTING STRIKE

7
COST

Why are you looking at ME?!

Melee, Ranged, Strike, Weapon Main Action

▮ Melee 1, Ranged 5 ⚙ One creature

Power Roll + 2

{≤11} 13 damage (Melee) | 11 damage (Ranged)

{12-16} 17 damage (Melee) | 15 damage (Ranged)

{17+} 22 damage (Melee) | 20 damage (Ranged)

Effect:

The target is taunted by a willing ally within 5 squares of you until the end of the target's next turn.

MANEUVER

I'M NO THREAT

Taking on the illusory countenance of another creature gives you an advantage on subterfuge.

Magic Maneuver

▮ Self ⚙ Self

Effect:

You envelop yourself in an illusion that makes you appear nonthreatening and harmless to your enemies. You might take on the appearance of a harmless animal of your size, such as a sheep or capybara, or you might appear as a less heroic and unarmed version of yourself. While this illusion lasts, your strikes gain an edge, and when you take the Disengage move action, you gain a +1 bonus to the distance you can shift.

The illusion ends when you harm another creature, when you physically interact with a creature, when you use this ability again, or when you end the illusion (no action required). If you end this illusion by harming another creature, you gain 1 surge.

Spend 1:

Choose a creature whose size is no more than 1 greater than yours and who is within 10 squares. This ability's illusion makes you appear as that creature. This illusion covers your entire body, including clothing and armor, and alters your voice to sound like that of the creature. You gain an edge on tests made to convince the creature's allies that you are the creature.

SIGNATURE ABILITY

CHANGE FACE

Magic Maneuver

▮ Self ⚙ Self

Effect::

You can change your face to resemble the face of anyone you've seen, provided they are human. Your face is indistinguishable from theirs, although your voice and body are not. You gain a double edge on tests made to disguise yourself as that person. You have no true face to change back into.

MANEUVER

DETECT THE SUPERNATURAL

You open your awareness to detect supernatural creatures and phenomena.

Maneuver

Until the end of your next turn, you know the location of any supernatural object, undead, construct, or creature from another world within 5 squares, even if you don't have line of effect to that object or creature. You know if you're detecting an item or a creature, and you know the nature of any creature you detect.

MANEUVER

CAREFUL OBSERVATION

A moment of focus leaves a foe firmly in your sights.

▮ 20 squares Maneuver

⚙ One creature

Effect:

As long as you remain within distance of the target, maintain line of effect to them, and strike no other creature first, you gain a surge and an edge on the next strike you make against the assessed creature.

HEROIC ABILITY

1
COST

Keep up the attack. Never give them a moment's grace.

▮ Self Free Triggered Action

⚙ Self

Trigger: Another hero ends their turn. That hero can't have used this ability to start their turn.

Effect:

You take your turn after the triggering hero.

HEROIC ABILITY

5
COST

When your enemy strikes, you reveal you were in a different place all along.

Magic Free Triggered Action
 🗡 Self 🕒 Self

Trigger: Another creature targets you with a strike.

Effect:

You use your Clever Trick ability with no insight cost against the triggering creature and strike. You can teleport to an unoccupied space within 3 squares of that creature and can make a free strike against them. You can then spend a Recovery.

HEROIC ABILITY

1

NOTES

CRITICAL HIT

Whenever you make an ability roll as a main action and the roll is a natural 19 or natural 20 — a total of 19 or 20 before adding your characteristic score or other modifiers — you score a critical hit. A critical hit allows you to immediately take an additional main action after resolving the power roll, whether or not it's your turn and even if you are dazed (see Conditions below).

You can't score a critical hit with an ability roll made as a maneuver or any other action type, but you can score a critical hit with a main action you use off your turn. For example, an opportunity attack made as a triggered action or a signature ability used as a free triggered action with the assistance of the tactician's Strike Now ability can be critical hits.

ROLL VS MULTIPLE CREATURES

When an ability has multiple targets (whether a strike with more than one target or an area affect), you make one power roll and apply the total to all targets. If you have edges or banes (see Chapter 1: The Basics) against some but not all of your targets, you might apply a different tier outcome to individual targets.

For example, if you target three creatures with a strike ability and the power roll totals 11, each of the targets should be affected by the tier 1 outcome of the ability. However, if you gain an edge on strikes against one of the targets to add 2 to the power roll, your total against that target is 13, and they are affected by the tier 2 outcome of the ability.

EDGES AND BANES

Edge: If you have a situational advantage (edge) on a power roll, the roll gains +2.

Double Edge: If you have two or more edges, the roll is one tier higher instead.

Bane: If you have a situational disadvantage (bane) on a power roll, the roll gains -2.

Double Bane: If you have two or more banes, the roll is one tier lower instead.

- If you have an edge and a bane or a double edge and a double bane, the roll is made normally without any edges or banes.
- If you have a double edge and a bane, the roll has one edge.
- If you have a double bane and an edge, the roll has one bane.

SLAMMING INTO CREATURES

When you force move a creature into another creature, the movement ends and both creatures take 1 damage for each square remaining in the first creature's forced movement. You can also force move an object into a creature. The object's movement ends, and the creature takes 1 damage for each square remaining in the object's forced movement.

It's possible to move a creature or object of a larger size into several creatures of a smaller size at the same time. When this happens, the larger creature in the collision takes damage only once, not once for each smaller creature they slam into.

If a creature is killed by damage from an ability or effect that also force moves them, a second creature they are slammed into still takes damage unless the Director deems otherwise.

You can force move another creature into yourself with a pull or a slide.

SHIFTING

Shifting is a careful form of movement that allows a creature to move safely past dangerous foes. Certain abilities, features, and other rules allow you to shift a specific number of squares, sometimes up to your speed. Whenever you shift, creatures can't make opportunity attacks against you triggered by that movement.

You can't shift into or while within difficult terrain or damaging terrain. If a rule allows you to shift, you can choose to instead move up to the number of squares you would have shifted (for example, to get out of difficult terrain). However, you can't combine moving and shifting within that movement.

1

UNDER FALSE COLORS

Under False Colors

"Do I really have to say the password? Look at my face, you know who I am!"

Prerequisite: While disguised as another creature, you persuaded onlookers that the creature was an imposter.

Effect: The first time each game session that you trick an NPC by assuming a false identity, you gain a hero token. When you use a damage-dealing ability against a creature who doesn't suspect that you are hostile, you gain a double edge on the ability.
